A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

*Welcome Back to Colts Theatre!
Spooky season is upon us and I can't be more excited! Our first show of the year is a brand-new show from our friend Don Zolidis! This show has not been published yet and we are one of the first schools to produce it.*

The Haunted House Disaster is a show about a theatre teacher and her kids trying to raise money for their musical by putting on a haunted house. Sound familiar?

In the show, everything that can go wrong does go wrong! From kids being on their cell phones, forgetting cues, lights not working, and everything in between! Throughout the ups and downs, the students persevered to put on the best Haunted House possible. We hope you enjoy the wackiness and sometimes randomness that is The Haunted House Disaster!

*Much Love,
Ms. Vallejo*

THE HAUNTED HOUSE DISASTER

By Don Solidis

If the theater department is going to afford that new Harry Potter play, they're going to need a brilliant fundraiser! Unfortunately, the Haunted House they devise goes horribly wrong from the start, with severed limbs fighting over a witch, a zombie version of Flounder, spooks that aren't scary, and technical problems galore. When a stream of visitors starts getting stuck in the haunted house, mayhem ensues.

BENCHMARK MORTGAGE

I have been working in the mortgage industry for over 20 years. During that time, I have had the opportunity to help thousands of families achieve the dream of home ownership, as well as helping experienced investors expand their real estate portfolios. I have experience with FHA, VA, USDA, and Conventional financing types. I have worked with agricultural and commercial clients as well. I especially enjoy working with first-time homebuyers navigate the mortgage and home buying process!

Prior to my career in the mortgage business, I was a professional operatic tenor and performed across the US and in Europe. It has been rewarding to be able to volunteer as a vocal coach for my son Hudson and his castmates over the past 2 years at Covington. They are all so wonderful to work with, VERY talented, and it has truly been my honor to help them grow!
